

JAN is sitting at a restaurant table, peering at a menu when MATHIAS rushes in.

MATHIAS

Jan?

JAN

Mathias?

MATHIAS

Yes. Sorry I'm late. Would you believe it, I got the address wrong.

JAN

That can happen.

MATHIAS

It's a terrible way to start a blind date.

JAN

Don't be nervous. Thierry and Alex said we had a lot in common. I'll give you the benefit of the doubt.

MATHIAS

Thanks. Just like the mainstream media gives the benefit of doubt to the "Official Story" of Nine Eleven.

JAN

Excuse me?

MATHIAS

The pasta here is supposed to be great.

JAN

What did you say?

MATHIAS

You've got very pretty eyes, Jan.

JAN

Thank you.

MATHIAS

They're sparkly. They remind me of the fact that Osama Bin Laden is still alive and hiding in Davos.

JAN

What?

MATHIAS

Am I being too forward? I can't help myself. You're very pretty and—

JAN

What do you mean, Bin Laden's alive?

MATHIAS

It's a well-known suppressed fact. Should I order some wine?

JAN

Bin Laden is dead. They have tapes. They made a movie.

MATHIAS

I don't want to get into an argument so soon after we've met.

JAN

Good.

MATHIAS

Who wants an argument on a blind date?

JAN

Exactly.

MATHIAS

It's not your fault you're narrow minded and brainwashed. You can't help following the herd.

Beat

JAN

Oh, look at the time. I really have to go.

MATHIAS

But we haven't ordered.

JAN

I have this thing. And I uh ... well... need to do this thing... now.

Jan gets up to leave.